*Saturday * February 3, 2018 * 3:30 p.m.*
*Decker Hall * Pilgrim Place * Claremont, CA*

...To live in this world
you must be able to do three things:
to love what is mortal;
to hold it
against your bones knowing your own life depends on it;
and, when the time comes to let it go,
to let it go.

~ Mary Oliver, poet, New and Selected Poems, c.1992 (p.178)

•Litany of Remembrance (from Jewish tradition)

Phil McKean

In the rising of the sun and in its going down,
we remember her.
In the blowing of the wind and in the chill of winter,
we remember her.
In the opening of buds and in the rebirths of spring,
we remember her.
In the blueness of the sky and in the warmth of summer,
we remember her.
In the rustling of leaves and in the beauty of autumn,
we remember her.
In the beginning of the year and when it ends,
we remember her.
As we raise her grandchildren and celebrate milestones,
we remember her.
When we are weary and in need of strength,
we remember her.
When we are lost and sick at heart,
we remember her.
When we have joys we yearn to share,
we remember her.
So long as we live, she too shall live,
for she is a part of us, as we remember her.
